

Even with the do not call list, I continue to receive unwanted calls and faxes. The law should stand that people cannot be allowed to intrude on your time unless you personally allow it. I have a hectic enough schedule and do not have the time to continue receiving calls for sales I don't want. If I wanted the item, I'd solicit the company or reseller. Unwanted faxes cost me and my company money and I continue to receive a minimum of 5 per day. There should be a fine to companies sending faxes in order to repay people for print cartridges and paper that is wasted on their unwanted faxes.
